			joined for positive progress must deliver the same spirit of freedom and democracy as enjoyed by other nations and administrators to her population. It's very sad that in today's world of 21st Century of technology and science,many lhotsamoas/southern Bhutanese are still compelled to endure the punishment which is the gross violations of UN norms and regulations.Hence,for their immediate release we are signing this online petition.With huge respect,hope the RGOB would take action soon.We wish all would release soon and get reunion with their concerned family members. May God bless each and everyone in the prison as well as the government and the citizens of Bhutan 🇧🇹 🙏

164. Nagendra Sharma Bhattarai	Sydney	Yes	I am signing this because of unhuman behaviour shown by Bhutan government. Many my elderly parents had said that they had spent couple of years in the prison of Bhutan, which was very cruel. They had received the mental and physical punishment. Many of them died because of the cruelty. According to my maternal uncles, the Bhote had thrown them into the river after been treated with electric shock and bitten by leather belt. Furthermore, resettlement to a new country is it self challenging and stressful. Even to those who have been spending time without their parents and child have been becoming very stressful journey in the new country. Therefore, i am joining my hand to hand with people who have been working to fight against to unhuman behaviour of Bhutan. I hope this will definitely solve the issues.	2019-11-26

482. Susan Banki	Sydney	Yes	I have studied the situation of Bhutan's refugees for more than a decade, and I have interviewed hundreds of refugees and stakeholders. I now see a new trend, which is that many are eager to move in the direction of reconciliation. Many say: there were mistakes made, on both sides. And this admission comes from refugees and from Drukpa still in Bhutan. The release of political prisoners would be an amazing symbolic step to further	2020-01-07

483. Suresh Murugasar	Kotte	Yes	reconciliation. This has the possibility to create the kinds of happiness for which Bhutan is famous. Respectfully, Bhutan has gained such a good reputation for its cleanliness, lack of crime, lack of cars, environmental stewardship. Its a pity that it has to imprison political opponents in the 21st century!	2020-01-09

531. Saya Rai	Cincinnati	Yes	I'm signing this because everyone deserves a second chance in their life. We the mere human, so mistakes occur this doesn't mean we should punish the culprit along their families. Where's the justice we all talk so greatly about. Please do consider not only about the prisoner but about their family also. You are not just hurting a thorn for hurting you but instead you are hurting it's flower along the buds which haven't even bloomed yet. It's very understandable that they have been held accountable for what they did, but isn't it enough, haven't it been over a decade. Some flowers have withered without a sunset and some buds are still hesitant to bloom. All I see is a perpetual woe of leaving a homeland, was it mistake to love your homeland more than themselves or their family. All they wanted was to go back to their homeland where they were born and grew up. I humbly request the king of Bhutan to be little considerate, I hope the king himself is not as illiterate as our bother and sister were/are. Please let the flower withered in peace of knowing the sun will definitely set,	2020-09-20
